Signs Of Our Friends

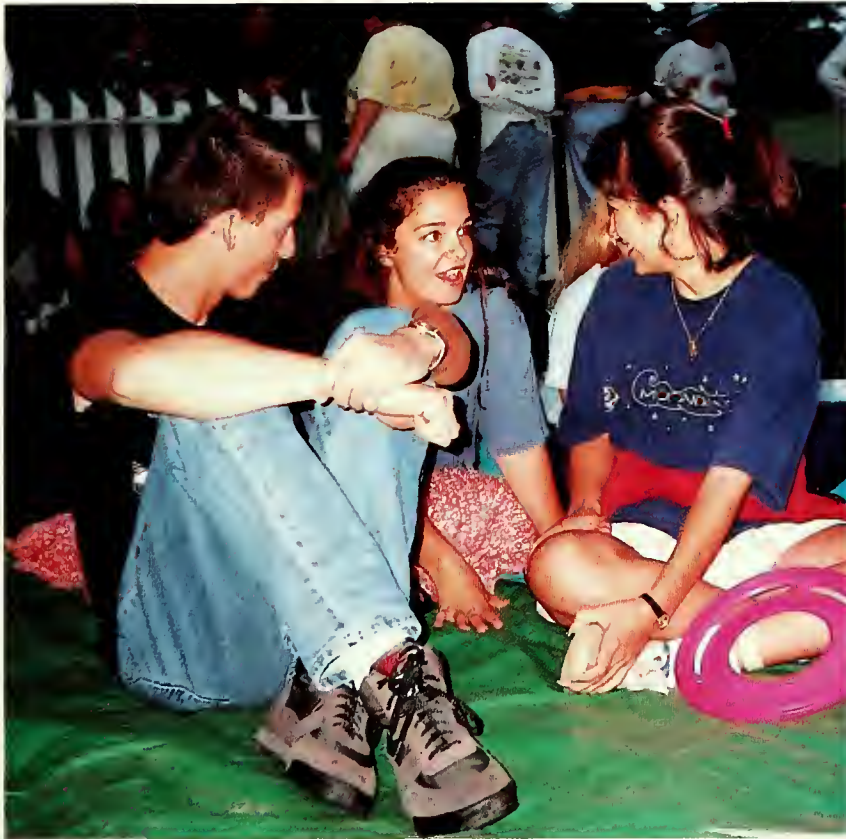

Above: Wendy Ellis, Greg Carroll, Teyo Tyree, Jennifer Wells, and Kelly Meacham pose for the camera to make a lasting memory.

Right: Some friendships last forever... If you asked Jennifer Cowan and Sarah Stevenson they would surely agree!

Below: There is nothing better than a group pile. Beckie Heckler is receiving just that from friends Eric Obermiller, Andy Anderson, Mark Hatfield, and Kenyon Evans to celebrate her 21st birthday.

Above: Jeremy Evans, Julie Walker, and Sheila Pirl sit back and chat at the Roger Day concert on Crawford House Lawn.

Right: One of the best things about friendship is the hugs! Brad Robbins, Jennifer Wells, and Amy Poag demonstrate for us.

Below: What better place to visit with friends than on the steps of Carnegie! Hannah Jones, Donna Haynes and Kim Syphrett gather to exchange the latest news.

Above: Kristie Penny and Peggy Smith stop for a time out from dancing to make a memory.

Left: Kelli Jackson and Rachel Winter dress the part of true friendship as they go to the Humanities' Club Edgar Allen Poe Party as Raggedy Ann and Andy.

Above: Kristin Kant attempts to pose for a picture with Paul Weaver, but he appears to have other prospects in mind.

Below: Mark Hatfield takes the world in upsidedown, as John McDonald, Eric Obermiller, and Julie Williams enjoy the fun of Blister in the Sun .

News from the World...

Left: When a civil war broke out in Rwanda, all eyes turned to the small African nation, and suffered along with refugees such as these as they tried to escape the unending violence in their homeland.

Right: Desperate to escape the poverty and hunger in their own nation, thousands of Cubans fled on rafts for the U.S. Although many were initially intercepted, the U.S. agreed to lift its policy of not accepting Cubans and accept at least 20,000 a year, if the torrent of refugees on boats would stop.

Left: On January 17, Japan was rocked by a destructive earthquake that measured a 7.5 on the Richter scale. This highway, along with numerous other buildings, was destroyed by the quake, that killed over 5,000 people.

Right: When the elections of 1994 were over, the House had a new Republican majority, headed by the new speaker of the House, Republican Newt Gingrich.

Left: Tens of thousands of firefighters, both seasoned veterans and new recruits, fought raging fires in the Western states over the summer. The fires scorched a number of well-known sites, including ski resorts and national parks, as flames destroyed over 3 million acres of woodlands in these states.

Right: Closer to home, floodwaters ravaged homes, crops, and other buildings in Georgia. 46 counties in the state were declared national disaster areas, and the recovery will take years for homeowners and farmers alike.

...And from Home

...Celebrities...

Left: What is expected to be the most famous murder case in America began when O.J. Simpson, a notable sports star, turned himself in for the murder of his ex-wife and her friend. O.J. surrendered after a slow speed car chase that was aired on practically every national television news channel.

Above: Heather Whitestone was the first deaf woman to be crowned Miss America. Signing "I Love You," she accepted the crown after listening to music for which she could only feel vibrations during the talent portion of the competition.

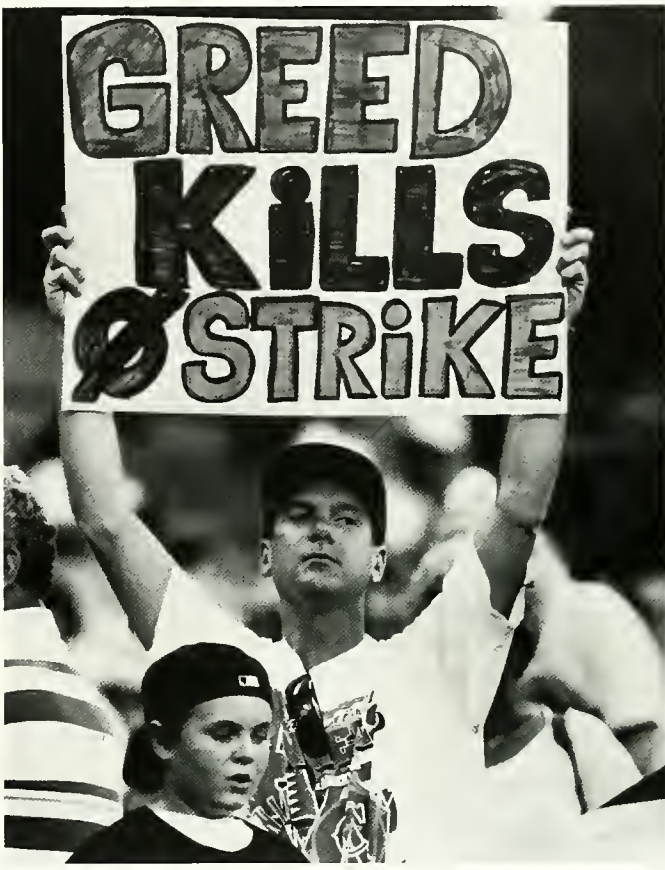

Above: All eyes turned to minor league baseball when Michael Jordan, the retired star of basketball's Chicago Bulls (and termed the world's greatest basketball player), signed to play minor league ball. Citing that he wanted a new challenge, and the fact that his deceased father always wanted him to play baseball, Jordan explained the decision to sign.

Below: Quarterback Steve Young of the San Francisco 49ers proved to his critics that he is one of the great quarterbacks. He broke one Super Bowl record, and was unanimously named MVP of the game as his team crushed the San Diego Chargers 49- 26.

Below: Despite Michael Jordan's joining the minor leagues, the major league baseball season came to a screeching halt when the team owners called off the rest of the season, after refusing to give into the player's strike against salary caps. Audiences showed their views.

Right: As the U.S. played host, Brazil defeated Italy in overtime in the finals of the World Cup Soccer Tournament. It was defense that determined the winner, as Brazil held out to win its fourth world title.

Signs of People Going

Right: The Yearbook staff was unable to identify this individual. If you see him, please tell him to go to Student Development to have an ID made.

Below: Dean Bolden received a break from meetings as he strolled across campus to his next appointment.

It has been said that people at MC are going places, but where exactly Junior Treva Lewis is going is questionable.

These are two men with a mission, Joshua Goocey and Jamey Robbins take off across campus with a purpose.

President Gibson enjoys the beauty of the campus after snowfall.

Signs of Events

Above: Jennifer Stadtmiller and Hannah Jones sing a duet at Coffee House. Jon Peters, behind, accompanied them on acoustic guitar.

Right: Rachel and Gerald Gibson take their eyes off the game only for a minute, as they preserve the moment on film.

The Fettucini Brothers picked Nick Curtis from the audience to be one of their lucky volunteers... He doesn't look so lucky!

Below: Kelly Sanson didn't know what was coming when she volunteered to make an Icecream Sundae at "Anything Goes!"

Above: It has not yet been determined as to exactly what Junior Kelli Jackson is doing, but what ever it is... it looks like fun!!!!

Left: Can someone say "Marriott?"

Below: Country Line Dancing has become a new rage on the Maryville College campus...

Candid

Below: "Everybody ought to have a maid" – Members of "There is no business like show business" strut their stuff at the one-time performance, which served as the climax to their Jamuary term class.

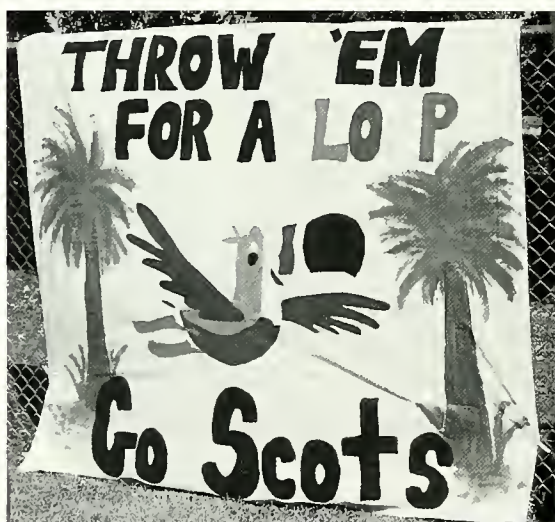

Activities

Events at MC...

Homecoming 1994

Left: "It's a Jungle out There" was the theme of this year's Homecoming. Pearsons Hall won the banner award for the most unique design.

Anything Goes

The Icecream Sundae building contest was a lot of fun for everyone... especially those who were willing to get "down and dirty."

How do you do that? Helen Peraza and Myong Kim demonstrate the Gummy Bear competition.

What a mess! Kelly Sanson and Jason Thompson pause a moment in front of the camera to show off the newest fashion... sweatshirt covered with chocolate syrup and whipped cream.

Coffee House

Left: Coffee House is a popular event for all of the students at Maryville. There are always a lot of different acts that show off the many talents of this campus. Here we see three students sharing their talent with us through acoustic guitar, drums, and vocals.

Right: The old favorite of Coffee House for 1994-1995 has become Paul Simon's "You Can Call Me Al," performed by Bishop Moore (not seen), Mark Hatfield, Robin Skipper, Ford Corrigan, and Yusuke Kanamori. This group (give or take a few different players) has become the high point in many of this year's Coffee Houses. Their blend of keyboard, brass instruments, guitar, and vocals appears to be the right mix for Maryville College.

Above: Put on your boots and cowboy hats - it's time for a barn dance! David Golden gracefully twirls Julie Posey as they learn the newest steps in country line dancing.

Below: Lara Sibold and Kelli Jackson are concentrating very hard to get all the steps to this dance... Soon they will be pros!

Below: Hannah Jones is well known for her dancing talents, but who knew she kept a beautiful voice hidden. She finally shared her vocal talent with the student body and none other than Tall Paul!

Above: Chee Hill takes on the Maryville College Campus as she and Roger Day do a little adlibbing at the microphone. Her musical talent rang across the campus.

Dance / Music Fun

Theatre

"A Princess and an Itty, Bitty Pill" was nominated for "Outstanding Children's Show" by the Knoxville Area Theatre Coalition for February 1995. In this scene we see theatre majors: Brian Prather, Mike Wilson, and Melody Alexander. Congratulations to the cast, crew, and Dr. Jill Bergeron. (Cast members not seen: Kathryn McDonald, Kim Schuenemann, Julie Williams, Tiffany Rudicil)

The cast of "Pippin", a musical comedy, entertained the entire campus with outstanding acting and singing. The cast: Aaron Stone, Funmilayo Eke, Dayna Turon, Robert Hutchens, Letitia Hall, Melody Alexander, Brian Prather, Adrienne Bergeron, Karson Leitch, Davy McCammon, John McDonald, Kathryn McDonald, Tiffany Rudicil, Todd Smith, Julie Williams.

Campus Events

Left: Copeland Hall's Ladies Night was a great success this year. A lot of ladies participated in a pot luck style dinner and a little bit of good old fashioned fun.

Right: The Fettucini Brothers' act was well received over January term. They excited the crowd with juggling acts and jokes.

Above: The Student Programming Board has done an outstanding job this year. Here they pose for an end of the year celebration picture: Anne Beconsall, Alyson Pryor, Greg Orr, Andy Bryd, Marcus Armstrong, Stephanie Fugate, Christen McCammon, Jeannine Quick, Alice Wong, Jarred Younger, Emily Venable, Rachel Winter.

Right: Paula Howse, Robbie Colb, and Nikki Masters really lived it up the night of Spring Fling.

Blister in the Sun III

Above: Roomates John Christie and Jim Baun battle out their differences in the Sumo Wrestling Ring at Blister. It is unsure who won, but a good time was had by all!

Right: Jennifer Goodbrod and Kelly Lyon appear to be winning the battle of the sexes in the Moonwalk, one of Blister in the Sun's main attractions.

Below: Todd Smith and Kenyon Evans help a friend participate in "Human Bowling," one of the many attractions SPB brought to Blister this year!

Faculty & Staff

our mentors...

Do You Recognize These Faces ???

Without a beard and a cup of coffee, this professor is hardly recognizable. His many years of service as a faculty member at MC have made quite a difference to the campus as whole.

It is hard to believe that this was only a few short years ago...

Saying Goodbye to Faculty and Staff...

Jane Gilbert

Jane Gilbert was a friend and a confidant to many faculty, staff, and students at Maryville College. She always wore a smile and had a friendly word to share. As the Director of Alumni and Parent Programs, Jane worked diligently to raise alumni participation through personal interaction, Class Reunions, and the Annual Phon-a-thon. The students of Maryville always knew where to go when they needed someone to care. She was an asset to the campus and is missed.

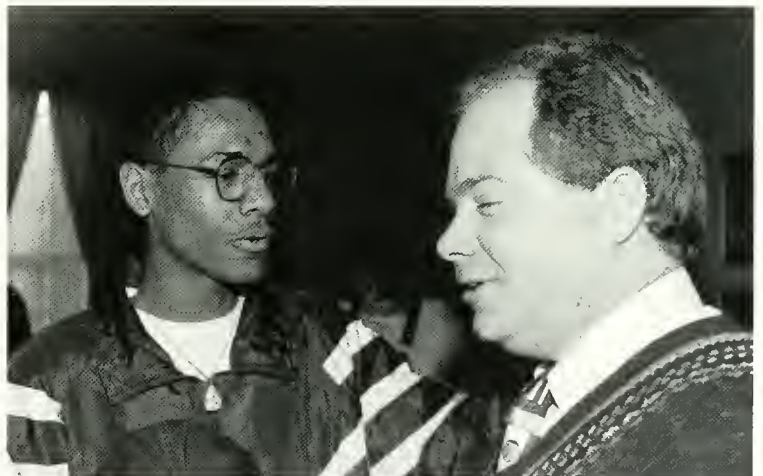

Rick Tatum

Rick Tatum is fondly remembered by many students as a man of great wisdom. His work with the Church and College Scholar Program for several years influenced many students in many different ways. Rick, as the Director of Church Relations, created many different connections between Maryville College and the Presbyterian Church. He led the interim "For those who never Joined the Circus" which many students participated in, and enjoyed greatly. Rick did a lot for the students of this campus... he is missed greatly.

Annabelle Libby

Annabelle Libby is a rich part of Maryville College's history...it is hard to see her leave us. She was both a graduate of Maryville and an employee. She served the campus on the Admissions staff, helping bring only the finest students here. Overflowing with compliments, encouraging words, and bright smiles, Annabelle was full of energy and vitality. She brought so much to this campus and will be thought of often.

Kevin Collins

Kevin Collins was a man committed to the students. Many of the students at Maryville lost not only their Director of Food services, but a friend as well. Kevin worked many long hours to give the students a good meal. It is a hard job, which he did with dedication and perseverance. He has moved on to a new job and a new life, but we know he will always carry with him fond memories of this campus, as we will of him.

Anne Becconsall

Anne Becconsall was an important person on this campus for two years. She came here in the summer of 1993 and served the college as both Resident Director of Copeland Hall, and as Director of Student Programming. During Becconsall's time here she shared a lot of creative ideas, and did an outstanding job at improving student participation in Student Programming Board activities. Jeannine Quick, a Junior and SPB Co- chair, said of Anne, "She always really looked out for us in SPB. I will really miss the support she gave us during the times we needed it most. SPB won't be the same without Anne...she was really good at what she did." Becconsall is missed, but we know there are great things out there for her.

Jane Richardson

"She is a woman of great character and she will be greatly missed," said a fellow employee of Richardson, who was an employee of this college for several years, working in Career Services. Many students have had important contacts with Richardson through work study and off campus jobs. Her work here often involved contact with students and faculty one on one... and it is not an easy job to say the least. During Richardson's time here she served in many different areas of career services. Last year she and Mark Cate exchanged duties and embarked on a new year of change. This year she chose another new path which we hope will lead her to an even higher sense of fulfillment. The faculty, staff, and students alike thank Jane for all of her commitment, dedication, and hard work.

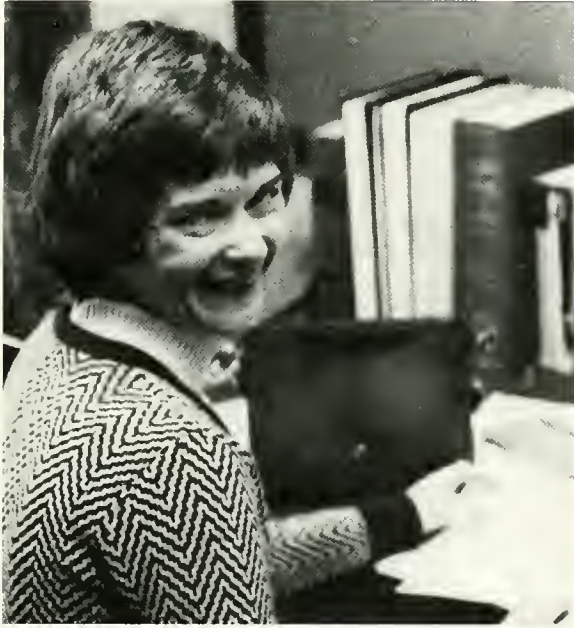

Ellie Morrow

Ellie Morrow is a friend to many of the faculty, staff, and students at Maryville. She has dedicated herself to nearly two decades of service as the college's Executive Director of Development and Fundraising. In her 18 years here, Morrow accomplished a great deal for the college. She has seen the most successful giving history from alumni, raised $1 million to finish Carnegie Hall, taking on the challenge to do so from the Kresge Foundation. Of the fundraising efforts Morrow has participated in, she said, "I have been very impressed with the students and their volunteer efforts in recent years. You can see and feel it spreading throughout the campus with things like the Phonathon and the Bonner program. It is heart warming to see them helping the school as much as they do." Morrow has plans to continue to have a strong connection to the college. She will be traveling a lot in the near future, but has also made some long term goals for herself. Morrow would like to try her hand in the Adult Literacy Program. Working with the literacy program would help Morrow keep her close ties with MC along with "...attending athletic events for many years to come." Ellie has been an important part of this campus for many years. Her daily presence will be missed, but that will make the occasions when we do see her even more precious.

Last fall, on the day Maryville College celebrated its 175th birthday, Dr. Sarah McNiell announced her retirement to her American history class. In her time as a college instructor, McNiell has taught for 23 years full time and for 7 years part-time.

Her work has included heading the evening school, working with continuing education, being an associate professor in the history department, and being chair of the history department. McNiell received the B.A. in history from Maryville, the M.A. in American history from The University of Tennessee, and a Ph.D. in American history from UT. When asked about how her career began, McNiell said that she had only received one offer near the end of her graduate school years and was beginning to get worried. One day, two of her professors appeared on her doorstep and offered her a position at Maryville, which she gladly accepted.

McNiell said that she enjoys her profession because of the time she gets to spend with young people and with interesting colleagues. "A definite plus for me is being able to combine a career with what I like to do best," she said. She does not limit her history work to the classroom, however. Her love of history has led to many other projects. Some of these achievements of which she is "pretty proud" include: researching and writing the book Back Home in Blount County; being a program scholar and lecturer for senior adult education programs sponsored by the East Tennessee Historical Society; being a member of the Blount County Public Library Board; and being a member, officer, editor, writer, researcher, and speaker for the Blount County Historic Trust, an organization of which she is also co-founder with John Nichols. McNiell plans to remain active with the college after retirement. She has expressed interest in the college archives, and knows there is a lot of work to be done with them. When asked what she will miss, McNiell said, "I think I'm going to miss the association with people and the stimulation of new ideas. It'll take a real effort to maintain that."

Below: Sarah McNiell will be greatly missed by faculty, staff, and students alike.

Dr. Sue Wyatt is a name that goes hand and hand with friend, confidant, and student advocate. She was always ready to help faculty, staff, and students alike. Wyatt began her career at Maryville seven years ago. She has been involved in Student Development for 25 years, and is ready to move on to something new. Wyatt was quoted as saying, "I really think it's important for those who do that [Student Development work] to have a high level of energy." She goes on to say that she doesn't feel as if she has lost that energy, but that she is ready to pursue new things.

Wyatt began her career in Student Development during her senior year of college at Shenendoah Conservatory of Music. "I really got into it because, at that time, it was not a student oriented profession in my view. I felt that it needed folks who really could relate to students," Wyatt said. She continued her career in student development with a master's from Peabody College in counseling and personnel administration. She received her doctorate in higher education administration from Vanderbilt University.

During her seven years at Maryville College, Wyatt served as Vice President of Student Development. Her job placed her as supervisor of religious life, athletics, housing, student activities, Crawford House, and Career Services. When asked what she will miss the most, she responded, "working with the people." Wyatt commented that her worst moments at Maryville have been when she has felt a student is "at risk". One of the achievements of which she is most proud was being a part of the process which placed a student representative on the Board of Directors. "That was really a step forward, I think, for students," Wyatt said. Dr. Wyatt has served this campus and surrounding communities, for the past seven years, with a strong sense of commitment and dedication. The students praise her as a student advocate as well as a friend and confidant. She will be a tough act to follow, but the students know that she will be back. Maryville College, faculty, staff, and students alike, wish Dr. Wyatt the best of luck in all future endeavors.

Preface

Maryville College is related to the United Presbyterian Church in United States of America in a voluntary covenant. The College Community, in the name of Jesus Christ, seeks to challenge all human beings to search for truth, to work for justice, to develop wisdom, and to become loving persons. To amplify noble ideals, the student body has developed its own covenant. The student covenant symbolized the fusion of basic values and ideals that people of all beliefs share.

The heart of the covenant lies in commitment, top integrity, responsibility of global citizenship, and appreciation of diversity. Individuals of high ethical standards do not lie, cheat, or steal. They realize their responsibilities as members of the global community and are diligent in fulfilling them. They recognize that tolerance implies no lack of commitment for their own beliefs; rather, it condemns the oppression of persecution of others.

The covenant began as an idea in the Student Senate of 1990. Today it is a reflection of the values and ethics of the Student body. As those ideals change, so will the covenant.

Maryville College Covenant

Maryville College is a community for learning that challenges students to grow in academic competence, personal and social maturity, and spiritual discernment and commitment. As scholars, we strive to maintain a high level of academic integrity. As young adults, we struggle to grow into responsible global citizens. As members of a spiritual community, we continue to develop a strong awareness of our individual faith while fostering a sensitivity understanding of all faiths.

This covenant was developed and is maintained by the student body. Our community has an obligation and responsibility involving relationships and mutual understanding, appreciation, and respect. With this in mind, I, entering into a covenant with all other members of the Marville College community, vow:

- to pursue lifelong goals of education and scholarship;
- to encourage and support my fellow students as they strive to be honest in their academic endeavors, as well as in their personal relationships;
- to respect each member of our community for his/ her individuality regardless of race, gender, religion, national or ethnic origin, socio- economic background, philosophy, or affectional preference;
- to act with integrity in all interactions- academic, personal, and beyond;
- to respect the rights of others be they property, privacy, opinion, or expression;
- to perpetuate sound moral and ethical values in my dealings with the Maryville College community and the global community.

Upholding those standards is vital to my continued growth as a person. I realize that nothing is produced by those from whom nothing is expected and recognize that constantly challenging myself to become a better person is the only way to achieve that end.

Signs of a Year at MC

Right: This winter brought a lot of snow to Maryville's campus, and what better to do in the snow than play with friends? These international students stop from a moment of playing to pose for the camera.

Above: With the snow, Maryville's campus turned into a glittering white wonderland. Here we see a view of Thaw Hall surrounded by a white campus.

Left: Senior Marc Hall braves the cold temperatures that accompany winter weather long enough to stop and chat for a moment.

Above: As the snow comes, so also do snowball fights and snowmen. Here, some mystery builders have built a snow creation for all who see to admire.

Left: After the snow melted, more and more people enjoyed spending time outside on any of many beautiful days. Here, Jessica Lemler and Aimee Cropper spend a few minutes on a bench talking and enjoying such a day.

Right: MC students Traci Marcum and Donna Haynes seem to be enjoying relaxing on campus so much that they do not appear to want to be disturbed by the camera.

Left: They say that seniors sometimes regress to childhood...Perhaps that would explain the kite-flying in which Senior Julie Williams is partaking...or perhaps she is just letting the stresses of college life get to her...Julie?

Right: This student has found a nice spot for studying— just outside the library, where it is perhaps cooler than the sometimes excruciatingly hot library.

Left: They say a picture is worth a thousand words... need we say anything else?

Right: Copeland Hall's Casino Night was a big success as Andy Anderson acts as dealer for his buddies.

The yearbook staff began this year with the intent of making a book that strayed from the traditional, and I feel that we have done so in many ways. With the book now finished, there are many thanks in order to people who helped me complete this book. First and foremost, I need to thank my Assistant Editor Beckie Heckler for all of the work that she put in. I cannot thank you enough Beckie, and guess what? We're Finished!!!! Thanks are also in order to my other Assistant Editors—Sheila Pirl first semester and Gevin Simpson second semester—Thanks guys!

I also need to thank Jeff Gary, our advisor, for everything. Thanks are also extended to Ron Rader, our publisher, and Chris Burton, our printer for the ideas and help. I would also like to thank Marc Hall for all of his photographic help—rolling numerous rolls of film, developing, and printing pics—I can't thank you enough. Thanks also go to everyone who was a part of yearbook staff this year, for your willingness to do anything that I asked. I cannot forget to thank Neil Crosby, our wonderful photographer, for all the time he spent in the cold lobby and various other locations taking pictures. In addition, I would like to thank all of those students who submitted candid pictures to us—they were much appreciated. A big ole pat on the back goes to Paul Weaver for his computer aid and last-minute editing skills.

Finally, I would like to thank my friends who helped me get through this long year, all of whom probably listened to me complain a little too much. I want to wish all of you who graduated in the Class of 1995 the best in everything that you do—great things are ahead for you all. I would also like to wish next year's Chilhowean staff, under the direction of Beckie Heckler, Sheila Pirl, and David Downs all the success possible—Have fun! As I finish, I want to leave you all with this poem for you to keep in mind at all times in life. Thanks for everything!

-Treva Lewis, Editor

"Listen to the Mustn'ts"

*Listen to the MUSTN'TS, child,
Listen to the DONT'S
Listen to the SHOULDN'T'S
The IMPOSSIBLES, the WONT'S
Listen to the NEVER HAVES
Then listen close to me—
Anything can happen, child,
ANYTHING can be.*
